

second time. But when she wanted it the third time it was more than I could take. I've helped 5 people establishing D.A.R. Gertrude was the only one who did her own work after she had necessary information. So most people when one consents to help, it means to them that you are going to do it for them. I did Rosie even to typing and getting her sponsors. All she had to do was to sign it. This gave Al a bright idea. Nothing to it! So he decided that they would like peninsular Coat of Arms - His and Hers. Well, that is some thing else again. Heraldry is a profession in itself. We did have a professional in our D.A.R. Chapter. She presented the scope of the field to our evening group. First, before getting started it has to be determined that Heraldry existed in the area where ones ancestors came from. (not known in certain areas of Europe.) Where it did exist there were rigid rules. (maybe could compare to getting a patent) Each Coat of Arms established had to be individual. Every thing on the Coat of Arms had meaning, even the colors used had significance and individuality. I wasn't about to attempt it for Al. His people came from Latvia. When I told him what would be involved he gave up the thought.

When I was in England a long time ago I thought it would be interesting to check the time between Eliza Banning (or Bennin) to Lord Arthur Hamblin. (1820 back to 1715) I made initial inquiry. Was directed where I could go. Was told it would cost app. $300. Since I knew the name it would appear possible. It seemed like a lot of money so decided to give it more thought. As I walked back to the hotel the thought occurred to me. The result of the Nobles to restore the Stewart Kings was defeated. At that time in England what other
